LET'S TALK PURPLE DAY

Let's raise funds and get people talking about epilepsy!

Purple Day is on March 26 every year. Purple Day originated from nine-year-old Cassidy Megan. She was motivated by her own struggle to raise awareness. The first Purple Day event was held on March 26, 2008. Purple Day is celebrated globally. People come together to raise awareness and fundraise for support services for whanau living with epilepsy.

There are so many ways to participate in Purple Day. This pack provides some ideas to get your planning underway and make your fundraising activity a great success.

If 26 March doesn't fall on a day of the week that suits you - choose any date as close as possible to 26 March!

Over the next few pages we share our very best fundraising ideas. On the last page is a checklist to help you organize Purple day. Once you have decided what you are going to do - email the registration form and we will send you some materials to go purple!
